

Finite photon counts fluctuate around exact theory

Official angles $(\theta, \varphi) = (-30^\circ, +30^\circ)$; independent model streams; reproducible seed 2,026.

The 95% Wilson interval estimates a binomial mismatch fraction from one observed count; exact theory itself is not uncertain.

Seeded pseudo-random sampling is reproducible for demonstration and is not cryptographically secure.